

AROUND THE CORRIDORS

Interviews With People Stopping at the Reno Hotels.

Hugh Collins, one of the well-known boys of the coast in sporting circles, came in from Tonopah last night on his way to Clifton, Arizona. Mr. Collins is well-known throughout Nevada and says that he considers Tonopah has a great future and that there is no question but that the camp will be one of the richest on the coast next year. He says money is plentiful, times good, that the health and sanitary conditions of the camp are very poor and that the people are first-class and the water miserable. Mr. Collins was accompanied by several gentlemen from that point.

Oscar F. Stone, Winnemucca's new attorney, when passing through Reno some days ago told a Journal reporter that having traveled all over the coast seeking a location he had found Nevada the most promising field. He spent last winter in Arizona and says a man can only work about four months in the summer and freeze eight in the winter.

Mr. Stone has traveled extensively. Mr. Stone has traveled extensively and pronounces Nevada for resources and superb climate the equal of anything on the coast. He says Reno is known from Spokane City to Sonora as the boss and bustling town of the coast. Mr. Stone was a former partner of John B. Corliss of Michigan, now a Congressman from that State. He has practiced some seven years in Detroit and was assistant chief counsel of one of the roads of which President Hays was manager. He comes highly recommended as an eloquent and logical jurist.

James F. Sloan, one time partner of F. M. Lee and George Nixon in the cattle business, passed through to California last night from Humboldt county. Mr. Sloan is now a wealthy and retired cattleman, and is prominently spoken of as a Democratic candidate for Governor. Jim says he does not care for political honors and prefers to take life easy. Now his cattle friends under the leadership of Frank Butten proposes to run him anyhow. Mr. Sloan informed The Journal representative that while hay was high in price and the crop short that he thought all the cattle in eastern Nevada would winter O. K. He says they go into the winter in good shape. He expects to see the price of beef advance and says to his mind Nevada is the coming stock country of America.

St. George's Addition.

This addition seems to be enquired about very much, and the phenomenal sales that have been made the past month, show that the public know a good thing when they see it, its advantages for those who intend building homes, where the children will be near the University, and public schools is first-class, and the scenery is unexcelled. These lots should double and triple in value in the near future. The doctor has been very lucky in getting such a fine addition in the market and those who have purchased lots, are well satisfied.

TERSE AND TO THE POINT

Little Bits of Items, but Still Worthy of Mention.

A train load of Lux & Miller cattle passed westward yesterday.

A brakeman was killed yesterday on the Boca & Loyalton railroad.

The ground is being broken for the new building of Mr. Jones next to the Court House.

The concert given in the Opera House was a meritorious one, but was not well patronized.

Clearance jacket and cape sale at Co-Op. store, to make room; prices slaughtered. Call early.

"Fat" Ragins has moved into a flat over the Palace Bakery. He announces that he will be at home to his friends Thursday.

A large crew of men are at work on the jail, excavations are being made and everything being gotten ready for the building in the near future.

The chemistry building has the foundation and lower story well under way. The building is going to be a handsome one, and will be a splendid adornment to the campus.

People are asking why the contractors fail to begin paying Commercial Row during this favorable weather. Unless they start very soon winter will catch them.

Congregational—Virginia and Fifth, services today at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday-school at 12:15 and Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. All are welcome to attend.

During this changeable weather at the approach of winter, colds are very prevalent. A stitch in time saves nine. Drop in at Gray, Reid & Co.'s store and protect yourself with seasonable underwear.

A Heavy Output.

John Sparks erected a five hundred ton ore house at the Reno Star. It lasted quick. Within nine days it was loaded to the muzzle. The ore is now coming out of the mine at the rate of sixty tons a day. What to do with it is the question. Work will begin immediately upon an ore house of one thousand tons capacity.

Returned to Her Duties.

There was a grand opening of The New Tivoli saloon last night. This resort is located under the Bank of Nevada and was formerly known as the Hoffman. Barney Levy is the new proprietor. The popular "Sig" Kronberg continues as high chief cocktail maker of the establishment.

TO PARENTS AND STUDENTS. Straining the eyes while studying means inflamed eyelids, headaches, nervousness, cross eyes, muscular weakness and thousand other defects. Parents should help to make studying a pleasure for children, instead of a task, by taking them to the Frank Golden Jewelry Company and having their eyes properly examined to see if there is any defect in the eyesight.

MILLINERY.

Mrs. Morrison of San Francisco will be at the Riverside Hotel for one week, commencing tomorrow, Tuesday, with a full line of millinery samples and will sell goods from samples. Call at

PERFORMANCE BY STROLLERS

Bears and Their Keepers Amuse the Small Fry.

"Coma da lada and gentiamana see da greata bara shoa" and the musical cadence of the voices of several sons of sunny Italy startled the late sleepers and stirred in the breast of the small boy a wild ambition to become show magnates. The loud blast of a bugle and the persuasive oratory of another vine-clad son of Italy arouses the public to the importance of the bear show.

It was not a Ringling circus with aerial ladies in pink tights and sad clowns with merry faces, no special trains with great heavens of tents, but a real bear show and three-sturdy and intelligent animals of the bear show species performed to the delight of the small boy.

Ever and anon the sweet voiced son of Italy with beaming face and a voice that could run the gamut of the vocal cords and touch the entire chord of human emotions announced that this was the time "to see da greata bara shoa on da ertha."

These gentlemen travel on a special car with their animals, a special which has as its locomotive power shanks and they make their thirty miles a day. It was only a few weeks since that they were in Elko and now the gentlemen are seeking the pastures for winter in Southern California so like their own dear Italy, where the sweet scented magnolia and the soft breezes from the bays and the fig and olive and claret and where they dream lazily in the shadows of forgotten empires and lounge idly around the tombs of the immortal Caesars and sunny California, will carry them back in their dreams to the land where nations have perished and the mighty sons of a lost empire become the traveling strollers, players and mountebanks.

The bear show is all right in its way, but it don't go a great ways. The bears perform with all the intelligence of a Hagenbachs trained animal school in Berlin and they ramble about Reno and added a large number of dimes and nickles to their traveling bank and disappeared up Commercial Row toward Verdi blowing the bugle and one of the talented gentlemen with a voice like the plaintive sound of the flute was howling with all the ease and grace of his courtly ancestors and saying "Thanka da kinda lada and gentiamana to sea da greata bara shoa on da ertha" and they disappeared, and the small boy went home full of ideas, stole the sheets from his mother's bed, used the stove pipe as a guy pole and opened up business on his own account with tawny as the bear and tabby as the tiger and when he goes to bed tonight he will dream of the Ringling circus, and how some day he will be the silly clown or the gentleman with a dress suit and a megaphone voice who announces the events and sweet youth, happy youth, dreams on, only to wake with the wrinkled visage of dame care mocking him, and thus we all live trudging on with our vain pomp and little shows and some times it is even a good bear show.

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED

Why the Nevada-Chico Game Was not Boosted.

A football game was played here yesterday by the University of Nevada and the Normal School of Chico, Cal.

The attendance was not so great as could have been desired and the game was not financially a success. This was due to it not having been advertised. When the visitors arrived Friday night and were greeted at the station by the student body and the Cadet Band, the people of Reno were uninformed of the nature of the celebration.

Neither The Journal nor the Gazette had announced the game. This omission needs some explanation.

Several weeks ago a crowd of students hazed a number of freshmen, and, while attempting to capture one of them, the latter took a couple shots at his would-be captors.

A fair and impartial write-up of the incident was made in each of the daily papers. The only exception to the article in The Journal was made by a brother of the boy who did the shooting and he justified the boy by publishing a signed card in this paper.

A few days later the Student Record, the official organ of the student body of the University, in ponderous words and stilted sentences, took the Reno dailies to task.

Immediately on the heels of this immature burn-up came the football game. Hitherto the boys have had their window cards, and tickets printed by one of the newspaper offices, but neither the Gazette nor The Journal were patronized this time. The boys "boycotted" the papers.

During former athletic seasons The Journal has published many columns of notices of these games and has never charged a cent, the good will of this paper towards the students is such that it gives them this valuable advertising, while churches and benevolent societies are required to pay for similar service.

But boys are often like republics—ungrateful. Furthermore they are prone to lose their heads and fly off on a tangent. This is the heritage of warm-blooded, impulsive youth, and no criticism is made of them for it.

The writer of this article, without the knowledge of the publisher of The Journal, was approached on two occasions by University students and furnished with copy boasting this football game.

The students were informed that space in The Journal's columns was theirs free of charge, but that first the student body officials must prepare a signed card to the effect that the Student Record article was unauthorized by the Independent Association nor did it express the sentiments of the student body, and, furthermore, that it would be retracted in the next issue.

The only reason for The Journal requiring the retraction of the Record article is that the publication is sent to the families of students throughout the State and might be deemed by some readers as solemn fact instead of a rhetorical contention for the gratification of an individual and unwarranted soreness.

These conditions were not complied with and the athletic association was made to suffer a deficit by yesterday's game.

Another Railroad for White Pine

There is talk of a railroad from Walls to Ely and other parties are talking of making connection with Palisade.

At any rate it looks very much like a railroad for White Pine metropolis. There is no section in Nevada in which larger investments are being made and more companies organized than White Pine, and it is confidently expected that there will be a boom there in the spring. A railroad to that section of the State would certainly prove a great boon to Nevada and open up a wonderful country rich in copper, gold and silver.

A larger main was laid last night to the hydrant at the corner of Second and Virginia streets. For several hours the water was shut off from the block and The Journal was delayed on account of the closing down of the linotype. Considerable local news was thus crowded out.

The organization of the McKinley mines, at Ely, has attracted a great deal of attention.

A Heavy-Weight From Nevada.

John Sparks yesterday afternoon shipped to the cattle show in Kansas City, a two-year-old steer, a Hereford, Alamo Chief, that weighed 2010 pounds. If he takes the prize at Kansas City, it is the intention of Mr. Sparks to ship him to Chicago for fat cattle show. The steer that took the prize last year sold for one dollar per pound as choice block meat. Mr. Sparks says that he may lose 100 pounds on the trip, but expects to get him there in shape to haul down the ribbon. For eight years his herd has been champion of the coast for all Herefords, all cattle and breeds. Nevada is a beef producer and the Sparks' herd of Herefords are a great advertisement to this State. Mr. Sparks has shipped thoroughbreds all over the State, and many of his herds are to be found in different counties of the State.

CORPORATION PREPARING

Nevada Power, Land and Light Co. Stringing Wires.

It is announced by the Nevada Power and Land and Light Company that they will erect a fifty thousand gas plant. The company is showing great interest and the plant will be a valuable addition to the town.

The cold storage proposition means much more for Reno than is realized. They have a large capacity and intend to kill whole train loads of cattle and will place them in cold storage to supply not only Nevada butchers, but outside shops. This will add largely to Nevada's interest in a general way. Reno is destined to be a great cattle, sheep and horse shipping point. The cold storage is a step in the direction of a development of the stock industry of the State.

The wires of the Nevada Power Company are glittering in the cammamam pany are glittering in the sunlight. The array of poles down the river and up Ralston street give a picturesque and manufacturing appearance to Nevada. A crew of men are busy setting poles, stringing wires and running the line to the various places to where power is to be transmitted. This is but a fore runner of what the potential strength of the Truckee will be in a few years when all the country is utilized for manufacturing sites.

LET THE PEOPLE ELECT.

THE RE is nothing under the sun to recommend the election of United States Senators by legislatures except the antiquity of the system. It is a part of our Federal constitution, but it is only there by chance as a majority of the members of the convention favored the popular election, and the result was a compromise between the larger and smaller States, the latter claiming and obtaining equal representation in the Senate for all. No argument has ever been advanced or attempted to be advanced, against the proposition to transfer to the sovereign people the power to elect their Senators by a direct vote, nor, so far as we are informed, has any member of either branch of Congress raised his voice against it when the subject has been under consideration.

The framers of the constitution evidently believed that in the course of events it would become necessary to change some parts of it, for they wisely provided the method for the change which this plan proposes, a method by which up to the present time fifteen changes have been wrought. It is furthermore evident that they had in view the mode and manner of electing the Senators and whether in their sovereign and political capacity, or as a people, was left subject to such changes as the wisdom and experience of future ages might determine. Such wisdom and experience has determined in favor of the popular election, and it only remains for Congress to provide the means for submitting the matter to the people of the several States, who would ratify it by practically a unanimous vote.

When the constitution was adopted there was not a State in the Union where universal suffrage existed, and just in proportion as the right of suffrage has been extended in the several States, have the powers of the legislatures been diminished. If the people be the source of all political power in this country, why are they not entitled to exercise that power directly and not through the agency of others, and why not in the election of Senators as well as the executive and other officers of the State? No one who distrusts the people can have faith in a republican form of government, and to refuse to entrust to them the right to select directly and not by proxy their public agents is to deny them an absolute and inherent right.

Aside from this fundamental fact, policy as well as principle demands the change, for which innumerable cogent reasons can be given. The disgraceful circumstances which have attended the election of Senators in many of the States in recent years in a number of States, the entire sessions of the legislatures have been devoted to attempts to elect Senators, and those bodies have adjourned under the constitutional limits without transacting any legislative business of importance, and also without making a selection for Senator leaving such States to be represented by only one representative in the upper house.

Another evil which is the result of the present system. In Senatorial years a large proportion of the members of the legislature are elected, not because of their fitness to make laws, but because they favor this or that candidate for United States Senator. Election by the people would remove this evil, and legislators would be elected upon their merits and then qualifications for the duties of legislative and general legislation.

Despairing of any immediate relief by reason of the Senate refusing to submit this amendment to a popular vote of the State, in many of the States the voters have discovered a method by which they can accomplish indirectly that which they are not permitted to do directly. In some of them there are held Senatorial primary elections, under the sanction of statutory enactments, while in others they are only protected by such regulations and safeguards as may be provided by the political organizations resorting to this method of securing an expression of the popular will. In no State where this device has been employed has it ever been abandoned. On the contrary in some of the States the holding of such primary elections has been made obligatory by statute.

The legislature of 1899 in Nevada enacted a law in harmony with the principle which has governed the action of the people of the States we have alluded to, and the members of the different political parties will elect delegates to their State conventions who will act in accordance with its letter and spirit, the question of the United States Senatorship will be left to the vote of the sovereign people of the commonwealth, just as though the desired constitutional amendment was in full force and effect.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

THE event which caused the nation to mourn has set many people to thinking. At first there was some impulsive utterings, which were perhaps to be expected although not from the sources from which many of them came, from men in positions of public teachers and public leadership. With such men, for the most part, the impulsiveness has passed away, and calm and serious consideration has succeeded it. There are such men as Senator Dolliver and Butler of Washington, and other serious thinkers, who are raising the question whether the conditions are as they should be as regards an assertive public sentiment. Are we as jealous of the supremacy of the law as we should be, and do we hold the officials up to the standard of authority as they should be held? When an extreme crime is committed, is it true that the culprit, if known, is always brought to the extreme penalty of the law? But it is as much the province of a government, to protect the person and property, as it is to punish those who refuse to regard their rights and safety. It is the wholesome motive of law and authority to prevent crime, and the enforcement of the penalty for its commission is really more of a necessity incidental than a fundamental purpose.

But it is an open fact that the laws are often more than winked at throughout the land. We call them "dead letters" as a sort of explanatory apology, but there is a dangerous lesson in their deliberate official defiance. We speak more particularly of such laws as prohibit gambling, selling of liquor and purity of election statutes, which are openly violated, and often with official sanction in the States where they exist. Better, far better that there should be no such laws if they are to be violated with impunity, for it breeds a general contempt for all laws and is a greater promoter of lawlessness than temptation to commit crime for profit or any other unworthy motive.

Let all laws be rigidly enforced, and if any are unpopular, or difficult to enforce because of public sentiment let them be repealed. But while they remain on the statute books it is the duty of the public officials to see that they are enforced as promptly as any other criminal law which provides a penalty.

We speak more particularly of other States than Nevada where the law is perhaps as promptly enforced as anywhere in the Union. It is in States where unenforced liquor, gaming and laws of that character exist, and where their non-enforcement is due to dereliction of public officials who make themselves accessories to the crimes of those whom it is their sworn duty to bring to justice. Every unenforced law is a breeder of general lawlessness, which is but a short step from absolute anarchy.

IT IS to be hoped that the report that the bandits who hold Miss Stone for ransom are surrounded is true, and that they will be forced to surrender. It will be better if she is released by force, for the payment of ransom would encourage the kidnappers to renew their depredations. However, the payment of the money should be made if necessary to secure the liberty of the prisoner. In either event, our government should see that the Sultan pays a good round sum for the outrage committed in his territory, and also that her captors be brought to punishment.

IT IS a costly exchange to allow the Chinese free access to this country in order that we may be permitted to send our missionaries to that country to be massacred.

ALL AROUND THE STATE

A Few Gleaned Paragraphs of Nevada News.

Tonopah will obtain an ample supply of water for milling purposes and household use from Rye Patch, Nye county.

The Board of Equalization of Lyon county raised the assessments of 200 taxpayers. The raises run from $15 to $10,000.

Proposals for carrying the mails in Nevada will be received at the office of the Second Assistant Postmaster General until December 3, 1901.

Lovelock is today the largest stock feeding point in Nevada. Train load after train load of cattle and sheep are being unloaded in Lovelock, and hay is higher than for years. The creamery industry has also caused a rise in price of hay and while the crop has been good, the supply cannot meet the demand.

Julian Benson, a young man from San Francisco while out hunting ducks in a boat at Lake Tahoe, near Tallac, was badly wounded in the right shoulder yesterday morning.

Virginia City undertakers have organized a coffin trust.

Colonel Joseph Marzen of Lovelock won the principal prizes offered for fine cattle at the recent State Fair. His victory in a competition in which all the prominent stock breeders of western Nevada took part, is one well-deserved by Mr. Marzen and alike creditable to Humboldt county, placing it at the head of the list in the raising of thoroughbred cattle, which is coming to be an industry of prominence in this State.—Silver State.

A FIENDISH ATTACK.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

WOMEN AND JEWELS.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a covered gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Hodgkinson's drug store. Get Green's Special Almanac.

MINING IN THIS STATE

Culled News of Nevada's Most Important Industry.

Twenty men are employed in Col. Boyle's mine at Como, and work is progressing rapidly.

W. F. Newell, representing Selby & Co., is traveling over Nevada in search of iron ore.

Samuel Newhouse, the wealthy Utah mine operator, states positively that he will erect a big smelting plant in Salt Lake City, which is to be independent of the trust.

No place in the State has any better prospects for its mines than is shown in this district and with Galena, Bullion, Lewis and Old Battle Mountain to contribute a variety of ores, reduction works could be operated at this point with profit to the investors.

John Galligan and C. C. Clifton are meeting with encouragement in the development of the claim at Taylor in which the late Hugh Gibson received injuries which cost him his life. Samples from that claim assayed by S. R. McLaughlin last week showed values of $2.20 in gold, 16.20 ounces silver; 10 per cent copper, and about 10 per cent lead.

Salt Lake Mining Review: W. H. Irvine, who recently visited the Rocco-Homestead mine at Hamilton, White Pine county, Nevada, has returned home more than pleased with the physical condition of this regular producer and dividend payer. Mr. Irvine states that the mine is looking well, with fine bodies of high-grade ore blocked out in its workings, while the company is busily employed in sending out ore and taking down "velvet money."

George Storey, one of the pioneer mining men of Nevada, died in the Stockton insane asylum last week, aged 71.

STEPPED INTO LIVE COALS.

"When a child I burned my foot frightfully," writes W. H. Eads, of Jonesville, Va., "which caused horrible leg sores for 30 years, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured me after everything else failed." POWER OF IMAGINATION.

A Druggist's Story of How It Worked in One Case.

"The power of imagination," said a New York druggist, "is past comprehension. Not long since a domestic in the employ of a prominent family came into the store in great haste with a prescription which called for two grains of morphia in two ounces of aqua pura—that is, distilled water—the accompanying direction reading, 'A teaspoonful every hour until the pain is allayed.' The patient for whom it was intended was the head of the family, who was suffering from a severe attack of nervous neuralgia.

"Now, it so happened that the family physician who had written the prescription was behind the counter when the messenger arrived, having dropped in, as was his wont, on the way to his office. While I was putting up the prescription we chatted and laughed and joked and passed the time of day as only professional men are capable of doing. I filled the bottle, corked it carefully and labeled it properly, and when the retreating form of the domestic had disappeared out of the store door returned to my companionable physician visitor. As I did so I saw to my amazement the two grains of morphia replying upon the prescription scales.

"Doctor," I ejaculated, 'I've given that girl nothing but distilled water. The morphia is here; look at it. What shall I do?'

"Do?" he replied, with admirable sang froid. "Do? Why, nothing at all. I'll wager you that the aqua pura will work as well without the opiate as with it."

"Agreed," said I, and do you know," concluded the pharmacist, "the doctor was right, and the patient with the nervous neuralgia—an exceptionally intelligent and college bred man—was sleeping as peacefully as a babe after the second dose of the 'mixture.' Faith is everything where medicine is concerned."—Exchange.

Anxious to Be His Friend.

"There are plenty of men in this world," said the head of the firm, addressing the clerk he had summoned into the private office, "who can trace their successes directly to what they at first considered failures. I knew a man who 20 years ago was a clerk in a clothing store. His employer discharged him for incompetency. He hunted through all the clothing stores in town trying to get another job, but couldn't find one, and at last, almost starved, he got a place as a brakeman on one of the railroads. Today he is the head of that road, draws a salary of $25,000 a year and regards the man who discharged him long ago as the best friend he ever had. Now, he is only one of hundreds of men who have had similar experiences. So you see what at first seems a misfortune may often be a real blessing in disguise."

The young man hid a yawn behind his hand and, thinking of the five broiled lobsters he had the night before helped a certain soft-eyed creature to remove from the scene, languidly replied: "Yes; I know that has frequently happened. Did you want to speak to me about anything in particular this morning, Mr. Yamsley?"

"Oh, no; nothing of special importance," the old gentleman replied, "only I'm going to give you a chance to look back some day and regard me as your best friend. Goodbye. I hope you'll have all kinds of success at whatever you decide to go at."—Chicago Herald.

BRAIN-FOOD NONSENSE.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aid digestion, stimulate the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. C. Green's reliable remedies at Hodgkinson's drug store.

BACK TO THE OLD HOME.

The following lines on the death of the President were handed to The Journal for publication:

Back to the old home,
The President of our land,
America's eyes are wet
Though she bows to God's command.

Back to the old home,
But not as he came before;
A brave and a stalwart Chief
Whom the Nation did adore.

Back to the old home,
But not as days of youth;
When his boyish heart was proud
As he spoke in happy truth.

Of his halcyon childhood hours,
In the home he loved so well—
Of his mother whom he loved
With a love like a magic spell.

Back to the old home,
How oft he had come before
With a joyous, exultant heart,
To enter the old home door.

How oft with his loving wife,
He'd welcome his comrades all
To the old Canton Home,
O'er which hangs death's dark pall.

Back to the old home,
The words like a funeral knell
Is sounding upon my ears—
Like the tolling of a bell.

Yes, he is back again
For the last and the only time.
Oh, how the scene is changed
For this man in his aged prime.

Back in the dear old home,
Now all is as still as the night—
No sound of welcome shouts,
No revelry and delight.

But hark, they are singing a hymn,
"The Nearer My God to Thee"
And there are the preacher and men
Just rising from bended knee.

The crowd is so dense and dark,
They're in deepest sorrow I know;
Now the funeral train moves on,
In procession sad and slow.

Back to the old home,
To rest in the churchyard there—
While his saintly widow alone—
Now weeps in her deep despair—

Weeps for the honored of dead,
Yea, weeps for her martyred knight,
And holy is every tear,
In the loving Savior's sight.

And back in the old home,
Have mercy, oh God above,
Comfort her till she wakes
In the home of Eternal Love.
—Christina L. Clark.

TOT CAUSES NIGHT ALARM.

"One night my brother's baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C. Snider, of Crittenden, Ky., "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve."
